Production

Harvest: The olives are harvested in October, using mechanical harvesters and shakers, used gently to avoid stressing the trees.

Pressing: The olives are cold-pressed within a few hours of harvest using the Picalisi continuous-cycle system.

Filtration: The olive oil is filtered to obtain a clear and bright color and to preserve freshness and aromas over time. We aim at preserving and enhancing the unique organoleptic qualities of each olive variety we select, giving shape to our Tuscan olive oil with a distinctive taste.

Warehousing: The olive oil is stored in stainless steel tanks at controlled temperature.

Storage: Store in a cool, dry place, away from light and heat.
